First-Destination Survey: May 2016 Graduating Undergraduates

Of the 217 undergraduate students who responded or for whom we received information via phone, email, or written report (totaling a 73% survey rate of return) 91% of our graduates have either secured employment and/or are applying to/have been accepted into grad school. Considering the effects of the economic downturn and the adverse effects on college graduates nationwide, this placement rate is commendable and demonstrates a growth in comparison with the previous year indicating that placement for Union University remains competitive with, and, in many cases, is more positive than other higher education institution graduates throughout the nation.
