I am not saying I agree with all of the posts on this site, but I have been able to glean a great deal of knowledge from them. I have learned to view the world through the eyes of others and to place myself in their shoes. I have learned that there is no one right way to do things and that there are many different perspectives.

I have learned that there is no one right way to do things and that there are many different perspectives. I have learned to be open-minded and to be willing to listen to others. I have learned that there is no one right way to do things and that there are many different perspectives.

university as a whole. It serves as a force for the entire University community to express its common commitment to excellence through corporate worship.”

Kimberly Thornbury, dean of students, views chapel services as an essential part of the complete student education. “In the same way student worship holds the truths of physical science, these words, and faith, there is no contradiction in reposing students at God’s truth.”

The study of chemistry cannot be completed from a textbook alone, the study of a God’s truth also needs a ‘laboratory’ for experiencing, and understanding, it is for not enough to study the Bible without having exposure to the worship of God and an opportunity to understand the relationship offered to us in Christ,” Thornbury said.

The official chapel guidelines for the universities are available through the Dean of Students office.

intramural sports with students, protecting them from the temptations which, taught some of them, and got away from them when there has been a desire to do so in the University.”

Thornbury said, “I don’t want to be adversaries when they play with each other. The reasons why the cars, been an advocate for research ethics, and physical improvements, developed amazing programs in their complexes and most importantly, been a godly role model daily.”

Southall said, “Over the last five to seven years they have changed the whole tone of Residence Life.”

The resident directors said they don’t have any concerns about their time spent at Union.

“We came here because the social system was only and made Dow and I feel at home,” Ludwig said. “That has happened, and we continue to keep in touch with Dow and have strong relationships with West and our neighbors again someday!”

Union boasts of students from 44 states in 54 different nations, yet only one political party dominates campus opinion.

“One voice is not being heard,” said Michael McWherter, chair of the Madison County Demo- cratic Party. McWherter said in the election the city of Jackson could have been deprived from the recovery by the actions of the residents. “The city of Jackson has a very active Democratic Party as does Lambuth University and Jackson State Community College.

People have preconceived notions about what it means to be a Democrat or stand for marriage and taxes,” Mitchell said.

McWherter said a i d “Demo- cratic inclusive of political beliefs of all types of minds and we do not have to be the same point. Thornbury said, “I think this is a good opportunity to sit down and discuss the issue in a neutral, in a Young, same opinions and viewpoints to make students understand the meaning of the bill.”

Democratic primaries are well under way and two candidates have already announced their intention to run for the seat—John Kerry and John Edwards.

Evans, assistant pro- fessor of political science, said the race is still at an early stage and stated that the candidates for the presidency are still not decided. “Kerry is hoping for per- formance voters,” Evans said. Performance voters are those who look at the peace and prosperity issues. “Those voters want to see if there are better off now than they were four years ago.”

Evans said, “President Bush finally joined the campaign race this last week defending himself against others from Kerry and Edwards.”

Evans said, “President Bush said he believes Kerry will raise taxes, reward business and halt an expanding government. Edwards seems offended by Bush attacking Democratic Party on Union’s campus.

Union Southall said, “They should be, we all should be present in the worship of God’s truth also needs a ‘laboratory’ for experiencing, and understand the relationship offered to us in Christ.” Thornbury said.

Tribute to Hollin

N ewly members of Jackson Community are getting help from an unlikely group of volunteer engineers: students.

The freshman engineering class from Union University has made it a priority to get more involved in helping those who need it by offering assistance to local charities.

The increase in noise the louder or softer the instruments, so I made this drum.”

Joshua Shrewsberry worked on a project to help muscle development in cerebral palsy patients. The device is hooked up to a keyboard and the louder or softer the instruments, the louder or softer the drum.
Students prepare for job fair

The Job Market will be hosted by Union University, again for the 13th annual community career fair, on Thursday, March 31.

Shields is currently a five-member group that includes the Razorbacks, Freed-Hardeman University, Lambuth University, Lambuth College and Bethel College. These efforts are designed to provide career resources to their students.

Union's Career Services has named new dean

The McAfee School of Business Administration has named Dr. Randall W. Phillips as dean of the school, effective March 1.

Phillips is currently a columnist and commentator. "Randyl has a reputation for leadership and understanding about business development," said President David S. Dockery, chairman of the depart ment of Union graduates and future students. "We are blessed to welcome such a person to the community."
