Join us in the Misty Mountains (locally known by the elves as the Smoky Mountains) at Rivendell (known locally as Montreat College) near Black Mountain, NC as we consider

“The Radio Broadcasts at Eighty: A Celebration of Mere Christianity”

C. S. Lewis was minding his own business when Dr. James Welch, director of religious broadcasting for the BBC, asked Lewis to deliver a series of radio talks in 1941. Lewis accepted with the understanding that he could speak about the objective reality of right and wrong. During the war, Lewis would deliver four separate series of talks which he published in three slim volumes before editing them into one volume as Mere Christianity in 1952. The talks and the ensuing books became the means by which many people came to faith and by which the faith of many believers was strengthened.

Featuring music, worship, food, and good conversation with

Devin Brown serves as Professor of English at Asbury University where he also directs the First-Year Honors Seminar. Brown has written extensively on C. S. Lewis, including C. S. Lewis and The Moral Argument, Discussing Mere Christianity, and Bringing Narnia Home: Lessons from the Other Side of the Wardrobe

Don King is finishing work on the first biography of Major Warren H. Lewis. He has written a number of books about Lewis, Joy Davidman, and Ruth Pitter, including C. S. Lewis, Poet: The Legacy of His Poetic Impulse, Hunting the Unicorn: A Critical Biography of Ruth Pitter, and Yet One More Spring: A Critical Study of Joy Davidman.

Hal Poe has just finished a three-volume biography of the C. S. Lewis which is published by Crossway. He is the author of twenty books that deal with how the gospel intersect culture; including C. S. Lewis Remembered and The Inklings of Oxford.
